NEWSLETTER I/2017

Rules, administration and good practice in the recognition and validation of non-formal and informally acquired competences in Germany, Spain, Italy and Austria.

“Synergies” is an Erasmus+-project: Baobab from Spain, LAG from Germany, Alpha from Italy and uniT from Austria are members of the project consortium. All the participating organisations are working in the field of adult education. The main goal of the project is to improve the situation of recognition and validation of non-formal and informally acquired competences. .

The first phase in the project was a period of research. The partners interviewed around 80 experts in their countries to get information about the situation of recognition and validation and to find interesting models of how to do it best. The results of the research you can find on our website (<http://synergies.online/project/output>). The reports are written in the national languages of the partners, there are English translations or at least powerpoint-presentations available.

In the 2nd partner-meeting in Barcelona the partners discussed the results of their research work and developed their recommendations based on their research work and their experience. These recommendations you can also find on our website (<http://synergies.online/project/output>). All the partners will try to get feedback on these recommendations by stakeholders in their countries und publish them on our blog. Everybody of you is invited to post comments and questions on this blog as well (<http://synergies.online/>).

In the next project phase we want to develop useful tools to work with migrants to make their competences visible and to support them in the process of recognition and validation.
